> Home Theater Edition <

Easily connects to a wireless or wired Internet connection to access 11,000+ radio stations worldwide

Features

Aluratek's new Home Theater Edition Wifi Internet Radio allows you to easily access more than 11,000 radio stations in over 150 countries around the world with no monthly fees. Easily integrate the Wifi Internet Radio with any home theater as all receivers are supported. Simply turn the unit on and it will automatically connect to your wireless router allowing you to explore a world of entertainment utilizing the included easy to navigate remote control. You can search for music geographically by continent/country/state or by the more than 50 different available genres including a wealth of news, talk and sports radio stations broadcast throughout the world. Once you find a favorite station whether it's from your local country/state or while visiting other countries around the world simply add it to your favorites list (up to 500 stations) for easy future access. Don't be limited to what you can tune in from your old AM/FM radio anymore. Take advantage of WiFi and internet technology to free yourself to travel the world musically and have fun while doing it. You can also stream your music library from your local pc/media server or plug in a USB flash/thumb drive to read MP3's if the 11,000+ radio station weren't enough. Welcome to the world of internet radio from Aluratek and let the fun begin.
